President's Corner.

Kara Burkett

I truly enjoyed meeting and working with our new NASBE members and visiting and learning from our longstanding members at our RAP session and social at the NBEA conference. Having been involved with our association since 1969, I have always looked forward to the times I have had an opportunity to network with my peers. It—in effect—is one of the best working vacations and uplifting opportunities I have each year.

The conversations I have had, the resources shared from state to state and/or local education agency, have made all the difference in my being a well-informed, forward-thinking, effective state supervisor.

As our staffs have been cut, and all of our work loads have become almost—at times—overwhelming, it makes it even more critical that we maintain and build on our network. We have a rich history of our attacking issues as a team, thus maintaining a viable business program for our students. NASBE provides an avenue for us to effectively share resources and the expertise of each of our state and local supervisors. Think about what we—collectively—with the brain power we have as a team, can put to work for the benefit of our business students!

With today's communication options, we have greatly increased our ability to share resources and get immediate feedback to a problem we have to solve, which very possibly one of our peers has already found a solution to. Just to be able to have someone that we can talk to when we have a problem that doesn't appear to have a workable solution, or to have someone that we can share a major accomplishment with, is invaluable. Amazing! What a wealth of resources!

These are only a few of the many benefits of joining and becoming an active member of our association. I often wonder if I have ever had an original thought; or if, in fact, all my great accomplishments were a direct result of my association with my NASBE partners. The really great news is that my students have been the beneficiaries.

My tenure after a very successful 38 years as a NASBOE/NABESS/NASBE member, and as a state supervisor/program director is rapidly coming to an end. What a fantastic trip! The friendships developed are unforgettable, and the growth and development as a result of our wonderful network is impossible to measure. All I can say is WOW!

I would like to leave all of you with this thought—dive in, lay aside differences to build a stronger professional organization, volunteer or accept when asked to work on committees, and believe me you will be the beneficiary and will truly never regret being a part of this great association. It really is ironic that some of my closest long-term friends are a direct result of my having belonged to our association.

As Lee and her team implement the NASBE strategic plan, I know you will step up to the plate to assist her. Thank you for the opportunities you have given me to serve you as a committee member since the early 70's and/or as an officer. Have a great rest of the year, and a fantastic new NASBE year, beginning July 1.

Future Business Leaders - Phi Beta Lambda, Inc.

FBLA members discover new tickets to the future. Our theme, FBLA-PBL: Your Ticket to the Future, has been the motivation for a successful year. Future Business Leaders of America-Phi Beta Lambda (FBLA-PBL) members and advisers are preparing for an action-packed national conference, and additions to the FBLA Competitive Events Program offer students exciting recognition opportunities.

Ticket: FBLA National Leadership Conference (NLC)—Chicago

The 2007 NLC in Chicago is only months away. This year's conference workshops offer a variety of topics that will provide students with their ticket to the future. Members will be able to network, learn, and interact with other future business leaders. Exhibits offer information about fund-raising opportunities and universities while highlighting national sponsors and partners. The 2007 NLC will be full of excitement, achievement, leadership, and competitive events.

FBLA's National Awards Program recognizes and rewards excellence in a broad range of business and career-related areas. Through state-based competition at spring State Leadership Conferences, students competed in events testing their business knowledge and skills. These top state winners are now eligible to compete for honors at the NLC. Members also have the opportunity to compete in the FBLA Open Events, which include Advertising, Computer Operating Systems, Hospitality Management, Human Resource Management, Investments, Leadership, and Oracle.

Members can earn certifications by taking the A*S*K Fundamental Business Concepts, IC3, College Board CLEP®, and Certified Internet Webmaster Associate exams. Also, the National Association of Parliamentarians offers a membership exam during the NLC. Students can take advantage of GMAT, SAT, and ACT strategy sessions. Graduate academic credit is available to FBLA advisers through a partnership with Northern Arizona University.

Also held in conjunction with the NLC is the FBLA Institute for Leaders. This high-energy, intensive, two-day seminar is a focused-leadership experience for state and local chapter officers, as well as members and advisers.

As FBLA-PBL celebrates 65 Years of Excellence, members arrive back in Chicago where FBLA-PBL held the first NLC in 1951.

Ticket: FBLA Competitive Events Program expanded

There are many exciting new events and modifications to current events that will enhance the quality of the FBLA Competitive Events Program. The program will add five new events, and two current events will have additional components for the 2007–08 school year.

Client Service provides members with an opportunity to develop and demonstrate skills in interacting with internal and external clients to provide an outstanding client service experience. This event consists of an individual interactive simulation related to client service.

Computer Problem Solving is an individual, objective test focusing on A+ concepts, personal computer components, laptop and portable devices, operating systems, communication, professionalism, and more.

Help Desk is an individual, interactive simulation event that provides recognition for FBLA members who demonstrate an understanding of and ability to provide technical assistance to end users.

Management Information Systems is a team event that tests the ability to design and implement an information system solution to effectively manage vast amounts of information. This event consists of two parts: an objective test and a performance component.

Personal Finance recognizes individuals who possess essential knowledge and skills related to financial issues, can analyze the rights and responsibilities of consumers, and apply knowledge to financial situations. A one-hour objective test will be administered for this event.

Business Presentation, formerly called Multimedia Presentation, individuals will be given a topic to prepare and present.

C++, Java, and Visual Basic will be combined into two programming events. The online test will be eliminated, and a new performance component will be added.

Desktop Application Programming is an individual event testing programmers' skills in designing a useful, efficient, and effective program. There is a prejudged program as well as a performance component focused on the procedural style of processing systems.

Internet Application Design Programming focuses on systems that are used over the Internet or an intranet. There is a prejudged program as well as a performance component.

FBLA-PBL remains the oldest and largest student business organization with nearly a quarter million members and advisers in 12,000 chartered high school and college chapters worldwide. FBLA-PBL's mission is to bring business and education together in a positive working relationship through innovative leadership and career development programs. NASBE BUSINESS MEETING

Assessment Strategies

State Supervisors looking for strategies to develop and deliver technical assessments in business and marketing are invited to contact Jim Gleason at MarkED. The not-for-profit Consortium is adding capacity to develop test items across all business-based clusters, and to offer online delivery of end-of-course or end-of-program exams. Assessment strategies are custom-designed to meet the specific needs and budgets of individual states. (Gleason@Mark-ED.org)

A*S*K Certification for Business Students

Participation in the A*S*K certification program has grown dramatically this spring. All business students (high school or college) are welcome to participate. Testing was offered at DECA's national conference and will be available at FBLA's conference next month. Any local school may offer its own testing via the online WebXam delivery system. Two certifications are currently available:

- Fundamental Concepts of Business (lowest of three levels that will be offered by A*S*K, with the exam based on core performance indicators common to finance, management/administration, and marketing)
- Fundamental Concepts of Marketing (lowest of three levels, based on core performance indicators of the marketing cluster)

Additional exams coming on line this spring include advanced level certifications for the above, plus exams in finance and in entrepreneurship.

For more specific details on A*S*K certification, visit www.ASKInstitute.org. The Institute for Assessment of Knowledge and Skills of Business is jointly funded and sponsored by MarkED and DECA and operates as a quasi-independent certification program.

National Standards: Finance, Management/ Administration, and Marketing

Working papers for the new standards in each of three clusters are now available on the MarkED web site (www.Mark-ED.org). Final adoption by CTE State Directors is pending, with approval expected this month. These industry-based standards and supporting performance indicators are the result of 60+ industry focus groups in some 30 states, along with extensive secondary research conducted by MarkED staff. Over 500 business practitioners, including senior executives, have participated in the ongoing research initiative. A final report and executive summaries will be released in conjunction with the annual MarkED Conclave in Nashville next month.

Regional workshops to disseminate the new standards have been heavily attended. With some workshops sold out this spring, MarkED is scheduling additional sessions in the fall. State Supervisors interested in hosting a regional workshop (no cost to the state) are invited to contact Jim Gleason (Gleason@Mark-ED.org). Upcoming workshops include Eau Claire, WI; Des Moines, IA; and Ruidoso, NM. (Visit the "professional development" pages of the MarkED web site for details.)

State Supervisors' Dialogue Session

All state supervisors are invited to join the annual MarkED Consortium meeting and dialogue sessions held prior to the opening session of Conclave. The schedule of activities includes:

- New supervisors (or new to MarkED): Wednesday p.m., June 27
- Annual Consortium meeting: Thursday, June 28
- SS dialogue session/breakfast: Friday a.m., June 29
- Conclave opening general session: Friday, 11:00, June 29
- Conclave professional development program: Friday – Sunday a.m.

ACTE Call for Presenters

MarkED is soliciting presenters for the Marketing Education Division sessions for the Las Vegas ACTE convention in December. Of specific interest are sessions targeted at high school or postsecondary faculty AND local administrators. Sessions are not thematic, but should address topics such as: a) major projects, b) curriculum initiatives, c) program development and marketing, d) implementation of standards, or e) program design. Submit informal self-nominations to Jim Gleason (Gleason@Mark-ED.org) by June 30. (Sooner is better.)

hSchool of Business

Pilot testing for the new hSchool of Business will begin this fall, with training in conjunction with Conclave and in late fall. Space remains for up to three additional sites. The hSchool of Business offers an upscale, honors-level business administration model patterned after typical college business majors. It is designed as an integrated program, utilizing academic, business, and marketing faculty to plan and deliver a variety of courses based on the new standards. Initial (semester) course offerings will include:

- Lead! (9th grade, optional)
- Wealth Management (9th grade, optional)
- Principles of Business (10th)
- Business Economics (10th)
- Principles of Finance (11th)
- Principles of Marketing (11th)
- Principles of Management (12th)
- Business Strategies (12th)

Software applications and entrepreneurial concepts/skills are integrated throughout, with Microsoft Office or equivalent skills treated as a pre- or co-requisite. Additional elective courses will be implemented in future years.

For more complete information, visit the “Major Initiatives” section of the MarkED web site. Contact Lisa Berkey (BerkeyL@Mark-ED.org).

FBLA Exhibit

Planning to attend the FBLA conference in June? Please stop by and say hello to Dan Hoff who will be representing MarkED at the trade show. Dan is a former business and marketing teacher who served as a Model Program Instructor and, later, as a Model Program Trainer for a MarkED demonstration project in the 1990’s. Dan will be sharing MarkED’s newest materials, including standards, LAP modules, course guides, and more.
